ESTABLISHED 1855.

YORKVILLE, S. C., FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1915.

OF SCENES IN THE PLAY STREET, SEARCH

Before the mountain roads mired with the coming of the rains, inspection of coal and timber the time was ripe. Soon men would appear line which a railroad was to follow to Misery and across it to the heart of untouched forests and coal fields. With that wave of innovation would come the speculators. Besides, Samson's Souths, instead of vaunting their vicorder and declared the war over Souths who broke the law were as speedily arrested as Hollmans. Their months, just as a newly painted and renovated house is more conspicuous than one that has long been respect-

Store passed into new hands, and trafficked only in merchandise, and the town was open to the men and women of Misery as well as those of Cripple-

These things Samson had explained in his letters to the Lescotts and Hor- | delight. "It's a picture." ton. Men from down below could still find trouble in the wink of an eye, by seeking it, for under all transformation the nature of the individual remained much the same; but without seeking to give offense, they could ride as securely through the hills as through the streets of a policed cityand meet a readier hospitality.

And, when these things were dispromptly and definitely announced that she would accompany her brother. No argument was effective to dishad been there, saw no good reason

At Hixon, they found that receptive air of serenity which made the history of less than three months ago seem paradoxical and fantastically unreal. Only about the courthouse square where numerous small holes in frame walls told of fusillades, and in the interior of the building itself where the voodwork was scarred and torn, and the plaster freshly patched, did they

Samson had not met them at the town, because he wished their first impressions of his people to reach them uninfluenced by his escort. It was a form of the mountain pride-an honmake no apologies. But they found ardlebags, and the girl discovered that for her had been provided a mount as evenly gaited as any in her own

When she and her two companion came out to the hotel porch to start, they found a guide waiting, who said he was instructed to take them as far as the ridge, where the sheriff himself would be waiting, and the cavalcade struck into the hills. Men at whose houses they paused to ask a dipper of water, or to make an inquiry, gravely advised that they "had better light and stay all night." In the coloring forests, squirrels scampered and scurried out of sight, and here and there on the tall slopes they saw shy-looking children regarding them with inquisitive defenential politness, at this girl in corduroys, who rode cross-saddle, and rode so well. Yet, it was evident that a young man and rather handsome in the girl, looking into his clear, intelligent eyes, wondered what that scar smile as she rode at his side, and askanswering smile to his grim lips.

"Joe Hollman, ma'am," he answered; and the girl gave an involuntary start. The two men who caught the name closed up the gap between the horses, with suddeny piqued interest. "Hollman!" exclaimed the girl

"Then, you-" She stopped and flushed. "I beg your pardon," she said, quickly.

man. "I know what ye're a-thinkin' but I hain't takin' no offense. The high sheriff sent me over. I'm one of his deputies."

"Were you"-she paused, and added rather timidly-"were you in the courthouse?"

He nodded, and with a brown finger traced the scar on his cheek. Samson South done that thar with funny sort of feller, is Samson South."

"I'd love it," she cried. And then she smiled, as she added: "She will be much easier to teach. She won't be so stupid, and one of the things I shall teach her"—she pased, and added whimsically-"will be to make

But, just before they drew up at the house of old Spicer South, she added: "I might as well make a clear breast of it, Samson, and give my vanity the punishment it deserves. You had me in deep doubt."

quite sure that I wanted Sally to have you-that I didn't need you myself. goin' ter last. Hit's a mighty funny I've been a shameful little cat to Wil-

"But now-?" The Kentuckian

"Now, I know that my friendship for you and my love for him have both doubts ahead. I've got you both."

fully. "May I tell you something which, although it's a thing in your own heart, you have never quite known?"

Finally, as the sun was setting, they tion in me, was really just a proxy, reached a roadside cabin, and the mountaineer said briefly to the other Drennie. You were liking qualities in me that were really his qualities. Just because you had known him only in gentle guise, his finish blinded you nie to stop with me a moment. We'll to his courage. Because he could turn 'to woman the heart of a woman,' you Lescott nodded. He remembered the failed to see that under it was the cabin of the Widow Miller, and Hor-'iron and fire.' You thought you saw those qualities in me, because I wore Adrienne sprang lightly to the my bark as shaggy as that scaling ground, laughingly rejecting Samson's hickory over there. When he was getassistance, and came with him to the ting anonymous threats of death evtop of the stile, from which he pointed to the log cabin, set back in its small ery morning he didn't mention them to you. He talked of teas and dances yard, wherin geese and chickens picked industriously about in the sandy I know his danger was real, because they tried to have me kill him-and A huge poplar and a great oak nodif I'd been the man they took me for, ded to each other at either side of the I reckon I'd done it. I was mad to my marrow that night-for a minute. door, and over the walls a clambering I don't hold a brief for Wilfred, but profusion of honeysuckle vine con-I know that you liked me first for tended with a mass of wild grape, in joint effort to hide the white chink- qualities which he has as strongly as ing between the dark logs. From the I-and more strongly. He's a braver man than I, because, though raised to crude milk-benches to the sweep of gentle things, when you ordered him the well, every note was one of neat-

> The girl's eyes grew grave and thoughtful, and for the rest of the of smile that had first captivated and way she rode in silence. There were transformations, too, ir the house of Spicer South. Windows had been cut, and lamps adopted. It ing toward the house, he sent out the was no longer so crudely a pioneer long, peculiarly mournful call of the a girl lightly crossed the stile, and whippoorwill, and, at the signal, the came up to the house. Adrienne met door opened, and on the threshold her at the door, while Samson and Adrienne saw a slender figure. She Horton stood back, waiting. Suddenly, had called the cabin with its shaded Miss Lescott halted and regarded the newcomer in suprise. It was the same girl she had seen, yet a different background. It was the girl herself girl. Her hair no longer fell in tangled masses. Her feet were no longer bare She stood there in the wild simplicity Her dress though simple, was charm that artists seek vainly to reproduce ing, and, when she spoke, her English had dropped its half-illiterate peculiwas patched, but fell in graceful lines arities, though the voice still held its

> "Oh, Samson," cried Adrienne, "you two have been deceiving me! Sally, you were making up, dressing the part back there, and letting me patronize pools. She stood with her little chin Sally's laughter broke from he throat in a musical peal, but it still held the note of shyness, and it was > with a touch of the mountaineer's over-sensitive pride. "I wanted you first to see my people, not as they are other." For an instant, Adrienne Les-That evening, the four of them the Widow Miller. At the stile, Adrienne Lescott turned to the girl and > "I suppose this place is pre-empted m going to take Wilfred down there by the creek, and leave you two stood leaning on the rail of the footbridge, she laid a hand on his arm.

"What do you mean?" rembled. and Wilfred are going to stop at my "Will you have anything to ask me uncle's house, but, unless you'd rather "If I can wait that long, Drennie," e told her. "Don't wait dear," she suddenly ex claimed, turning toward him, and raising eyes that held his answer. "Ask ne now!" But the question which he asked pressed them against her own. Back where the poplar threw its for me, all those years. What I was sooty shadow on the road, two figures sat close together on the top of helped to do by such splendid friends stood for. Adrienne had the power of as you and your brother and stile, talking happily in whispers. A Wilfred, she was back here trying to girl raised her face, and the moon do for herself. I told you back there her lips curved in a trembling smile. "You've come back, Samson," she afraid to let myself question my feelsaid in a low voice, "but, if I'd known > ome. Her voice dropped again into the tender cadence of dialect. "I couldn't live withouten ye, Sam son. I jest couldn't do hit." Would he he moon. I have since then met that remember that she had said that be-"I reckon, Sally," he promptly told her, "I couldn't live withouten you, and we can see our friends and hear neither." Then, he added, fervently, from them more frequent than when "I'm plumb dead shore I couldn't." THE END.

> - The Clinton Oil and Manufactur ing company was partially destroyed by fire Saturday night. The loss, which will amount to several thousand dollars, was partially covered by in-

Yorkville Enquirer. NEWS AND VIEWS OF YESTERDAY

edge of the Things that Most Concerned Generations that Have Gone

The first installment of the notes appearing under this heading was published in our issue of November 14, 1913. The notes are being prepared by the editor as time and opportunity permit. Their purpose is to bring into review the events of the past for the pleasure and satisfaction of the older people and for the entertainment and instruction of the present generation.

125TH INSTALLMENT Wednesday Evening, Nov. 25, 1863.) Fifth Regiment State Troops. Branchville, Nov. 22, 1863.

Our regiment left its encampment in Greenville district, on Thursday morning last, before day, taking the cars about 5 o'clock a. m., and after H. Calvin Conner and Miss Ellen a long and boisterous passage reached this place on Friday night about ten o'clock. The next morning we removed to our camp a short distance from the depot, where we will probbut it doesn't make friends.

(Wednesday Evening, Jan. 6, 1864.) The following officers for York district, were appointed by the legislature during its late session: Magistrates-Joseph McCosh, William McGill, J. D. P. Currence, John Bringing Up Records of the Past and McKnight, John G. Enloe, A. F. Love, Giving the Younger Readers of To- A. Hardin, H. L. Killian, B. J. Patterday a Pretty Comprehensive Knowl- son, Smith Sanders, Richard Sadler John R. Wallace, S. B. Byers. Commissioners of Free Schools-S H. Anthony, Allen Robertson, John M. Brison, R. S. Moore, J. M. Hope

> Securities—James Jeffreys, George Steele, H. F. Adickes, S. Rufus Moore, John H. Adams. Commissioners of Public Buildings -John F. Lindsay, John B. Withers,

Commissioners to Approve Public

G. L. Riddle.

Stanhope Sadler, W. I. Clawson, E. A. Crenshaw. Commissioners of Roads-Samuel

THE HOMES OF THE SCHOOLS

Photographic Evidence of Modern Progress In York County.

This photograph of a handsome York county school building, is one of a number that The Enquirer has had engraved to show the wonderful improvement that is being made along that line in York county.

BULLOCK'S CREEK CHOOL

This building, constructed along the line of Clemson plans, was erected in 1911, at a cost of approximately $1,500. The present school is the result of the consolidation of Bell Creek, Cotton and Bullock's Creek, in district No. 15. The trustees are Messrs. J. E. McAlilley, J. C. Kirkpatrick and E. M. Bankhead. Prof. Clarence D. Guess and Miss Anna Cherry Schorb are the teachers. The school is in the Rural Graded class, with $200 state aid and an enrollment of fifty. The term is eight months. Altogether it is one of the best schools in the county.

ably remain for a while though our say that the country is not unprotected, and this point is not being neg-

The change of position together with the rough riding and exposure of the box cars at night, has caused severe tle rest will probably relieve them. Our locality is now a very convenient one for news, but the Charleston paper will give your readers particulars far more reliable than the many rumors of the camps, though you shall be apprised of all matters of interest as they may occur or may be proper to be written. The well-doing of the interest of the present letter. The present title of our headquarters is "Camp Williams," in honor of our colonel, who it may be proper to state. was not present at the christening deserved and we doubt not will be properly appreciated. Branchville, heretofore a busy little 'burg," is almost deserted, the postmaster and telegrapher apparently composing the "authorities of the He stopped a minute and said: people," except at car time when these doctor ought to be mighty careful dignities seem "lords of all they survey." The hotel keeper and servants are not forgotten for they disappear ing morphine, he said, after he was as fast as their scanty fare, and the injured and gradually increased the straveling's shin plasters. While writing, artillery are passing us to the front-this movement with the shelling of Charleston, looks as years, and said that now he had workthough our "Iron Grays" will yet have an attack inland. We have every reliance in their ability and willingness to do their duty.

We have had services today in amp at the quarter of Capt. Gill's how easy it was to get the drug becompany this morning. Capt. Lowry's on the right of our regiment, thus beginning in the center with Chester from all but two drug stores of the and ending on the left and right. The services were conducted by our chaplain, Mr. DePass, assisted by Rev. ings are full of interest and we have he stated that the drug was harder to an earnest from our growing acquaintance that they will be kept, how lovely she was, I'd have given up Others than the ministers are invited charging from 25 to 50 cents each for to take part in the prayer meetings, and thus all denominations have and take a common-I should say-Chris-been furloughed home for twelve days, so we may soon look on "boxes from home," as foregone conclusions; least, that is the price he could sell i however transportation is now direct, away in our mountain fortresses. The thanks of the regiment are due the railroad conspirators for the carethe railroad conspirators for the care-was comfortably seated with little ful manner in which they avoided Katherine on his knee, he asked, as running off by traveling at the rate of two miles and hour; and many of the furlough soldiers who were returning to their duties acknowledge the condescension of certain conductors receiving pay to which they were wind-pipe was caused by the dullness of the instrument with which he made the attempt.....J. Harvey Wither-spoon, superintendent of the city year by the trustees of school district No. 10, at a special meeting Friday night. Mr. Witherspoon has rendere very satisfactory service to the trus - Greenville News: Declaring that and a majority of the patron during the present year. elections were made by the trustee Friday night.....Al Lipscomb, a ne gro on the Cherokee county chain Greenville News reporter, and declared that he had, within the past ing about 11 o'clock at the week or two, secured prescriptions for whole bottles of morphine, paying 25 to 50 cents for the prescription, and hiding in the swamp Saturday after-$1.25 per bottle for bottles containing colds throughout the camps, but a lit- 60 grains each of the drug. He stated getting only a few miles away before that at one time he used as much as two bottles per week, but that he had cured himself practically, taking now only four grains per day. At the same time in another cell, raving and moaning and calling upon the Lord ter is a little improved when last forth by cable, but at this date, since to have mercy upon her, was a poor heard from, although deranged woman who claimed to be the wife of Roland, piteously crying regiment will be probably the only for more morphine after she had for next year: Margaret Doyle, presname of Jennie Martin, alias Jennie Roland. According to her story, she

only

Gordon J. L. Phillip sand Dr. J. R. He stated that plicants for the job Rock force. It was a pleasing sight.

Bookout, Will Jackson, berta Garrison. them and that one physician charged $1 for a prescription. The drug also he stated, has gone up, and that the last bottle which he had as well as others which he told of, cost $1.25 each. One druggist in the city, refuses to deal in the drug, says that employment legally, without

Communities. CONDENSED FOR OUICK READING Dealing Mainly With Local Affairs of Cherokee, Cleveland, Gaston, Lancaster and Chester.

Gaffney Ledger, April 13: The physican attending Mr. Lewis Humph-Gastonia Gazette, April 13: presbytery of King's Mountain, bracing the counties of Gaston, ries at the city hospital, yesterday reported that his condition was much improved and that his chances for reoln, Cleveland, Rutherford and Polk covery are good. Mr. Humphries suffered a fractured shoulder and other injuries on April 5th, when he was knocked down by a runaway team on Limestone street....Mr. Forest Huggin, rural free delivery carrier on route two, made a record-breaking trip Saturday, covering his entire route in exactly two hours. Number two is the regulation length, twenty-four miles, and one hundred and forty four miles, and one hundred and forty patrons are served by it. Mr. Hug-gin left the local postoffice Saturday presbytery is Rev. S. L. Cathey of Mt. Holly.....Spring communion service will be held in the First A. R. P.

G. Brown, Thomas McGill, W. H. Carroll, S. P. Sutton, Samuel Blair, S. N. Miller, Franklin Brown.

Married—In this place on the evening of the 12th, inst., at the bride's residence, by the Rev. E. G. Gage, Mr. H. Calvin Conner and Miss Ellen O'Leary, all of Yorkville.

(To Be Continued.)

To Be Continued.) returned from a visit to some friends formerly pastor of the Loray Church in Texas. She brought two of the horned toads back with her, and kept them for some time, but both finally made their escape. It is presumed that the one plowed up Friday afternoon is one of those brought here by Miss Driskill, and it is thought that the other may be living in the ground within the neighborhood where Mr. Driskill made his discovery......A Monday at noon after a brief but Driskill made his discovery.....A Monday at noon after a brief warrant has been issued for the ar- desperate illness of hardly a warrant has been issued for the arrest of A. D. Hammett, a white man of the Grassy Pond section of the county, on a charge of selling bad meat to a local market man. It is alleged that Hammett seld a court to the county to the leged that Hammett seld a court to the county. leged that Hammett sold a cow to the young. market man, who sent some negroes after it. The negroes found a dead cow, and upon the instructions of the

Lancaster News, April 13: The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ellis white man, skinned the animal and of the mill village, who was seriously brought the meat to the market man. burned two weeks ago, died from the The dealer in meats discovered imediately that something was wrong ternoon. The little boy would have with his latest purchase. He sent it been two years old had he lived until May 29, proximo. The funeral 1913, the grand jury recommended services were held at the home and that the two McMackin children at were conducted by Rev. S. R. Brock, after which the little one was laid to Huskey, a farmer of the Macedonia rest in Westside cemetery.....The section of the county, attempted to commit suicide last Saturday afternoon by cutting his throat with a razor. He succeeded in making three and his uncle, Dr. T. J. Strait, have deep gashes, starting from the left and going to the right, severely in- A congregation which filled the au ditorium of the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, enjoyed thoroughly ed medical assistance to the injured the home mission programme carried man. Mr. Huskey had been in ill out by the children of the Sunday health for several months, being un-able to work. It is said that he acted rather peculiarly during the day Sat-urday, but gave no intimation of wish-ing to end his life. Late in the after-World," which was the keynote of the suffered a serious loss of blood. He is now in a serious condition. Mr. Huson the organ and Miss Mildred Green and Mr. R. M. McDermid on the vio His failure to sever his own lin, made sweet music. Then there were recitations and responsive readings, as well as other attractive numbers. Spring flowers were used abundance and added a pleasing decorative touch, so appropriate to the season and to the occasion.

SUBMARINE IN STEEL TRAP.

Barron returned last night from No description of these nets can be Jacksonville, Fla., where he was called given and no information of their efgiven and no information of their effectiveness has been allowed to go King George himself has inspected one of the captured submarines and

> The first of the submarines, one of the very large type, was caught in the net of the Firth of Forth which held inspectors. Engineers and divers with great dredges went to work and succeeded in lifting the machine and tow-> opened an investigation showed twenty-nine dead German sailors and their officers. In addition there were four Scotch fishermen. Today the names of these men stand very high in their native land.

It was apparent that the submarine, ound on a voyage of destruction up the Firth came upon the men fishing. She took them prisoners and ordered them to steer their craft safely up to point where they could accomplish

It has been asked: "Did the fishernen, knowing of the traps, the huge teel nets stretched here and there deliberately steer the submarine into they died.-London dispatch to New

Fool Things We Are Doing. We throw away water and buy whis-

We raise rats and buy corn. We throw away ashes and

We raise ticks and buy beef. We raise weeds and buy

We raise cotton and buy clothes. We raise molasses and buy sugar. We raise hookworms and flies to kill people.

We raise cottonseed to ogs. We raise San Jose scale, coddling

We raise blackberries but are azy to pick them. We build school houses but we se our children abroad to school. game, and then cry hard times.

NO. 31.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY inal Presentment to the York County

TERMS----$2.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

Court of General Sessions. Before discharging the grand jury Tuesday afternoon, his honor, Judge Green briefly addressed the members of that body, regarding the powers to not only pass upon bills handed The them by the solicitor; but to act upon em- violations of the law and irregularities which come under their own court before the grand jury was discharged from further attendance upon court:

"To the Court of General Sessions, his Honor Halcott P. Green, Presiding:

"We, the grand jury, having passed on all bills handed us and returned same to court with our findings, beg leave to submit the following: "We have, for the purpose of facilitating our work and in the interest of York county, divided our body into committees, as follows:

County officers-J. E. Burns, J. C. Cork, S. B. Pratt.

Chaingang-F. C. Black, J. C. Smith, Geo. A. McCarter, S. A. McSwain. Courthouse and jail-B. R. Smith, J. Jones, S. E. Sturgis, R. Y. Grist. Roads and bridges-Sam M. Grist, A. Shillinglaw, M. W. Latham. Public schools-J. C. Cork, Geo. A.

McCarter, S. B. Pratt. County home-W. H. Dunlap, J. L. Brandon, W. L. Crawford, W. P. Boyd. "The report of the county supervisor was received and referred to committee on county offices, with instructions to examine and report at subsequent term of court. "We beg to call attention to the fact that at the fall term of the court of that the two McMackin children at the county home should be placed where conditions would be favorable for their proper care and training. This grand jury is advised that no action has yet been taken in the matter, and it begs to ask that the recommendations of the former grand jury be complied with or this grand jury be advised why no action has been taken.

"A petition signed by citizens of Sharon, York township and Yorkville, calling attention to the condition of the road leading from Yorkville to noon, he made the attempt out in the faces of the children and also carried Sharon, the road from near M. A. Helprogramme. A choir of ten voices, the Howell's Ferry road commencing accompanied by Mr Thomas Beaty on Locust hill in York township, and asking that said roads be put in passable condition and kept so. Mr. A. L. Black, township supervisor, appeared before us and stated that he had arranged to have the Yorkville and Sharon road put in passable condition and would give the other roads attention with as little delay as possible. The petition referred to is at> tached. "We have not visited the jail or county home during this term, but they will receive attention later. "Thanking your honor, the solicitor and the court officers for courtesy > shown, there being no further business, we beg to be discharged. "J. E. Burns, Foreman." April 13th, 1915.

BIRDS ARE DISTURBED

Much Shooting Has Disturbed the Feathered Flocks of Europe.

Even the birds have gone wrong in Europe. Man's madness has upset their lives and habits and the very few ornithologists in England and France who can stick to their study of birds, in spite of the war, are scratching their heads about it, says William G. Shepherd, a United Press correspondent in Europe. The pathways of the birds, as they fly to the south in winter and back again, in the spring, have been mapped out for years in Europe. But the birds have forsaken their old routes and the bird men say it is because of the war.

Shore lights, and even the lights of the town, it seems, are guides for the birds in their long southward journeys and, this year the lights are gone. The same light that would direct a little feathered fellow toward sunny Italy would also direct a huge Zeppelin toward an English coast town. So all the folks of the air, whether covered with feathers or canvas, are traveling in the dark this year. The canvas birds can carry their own lights, in a pinch, but the other kind must get along as best they can, without lamps. There is no doubt that the birds found their way to the south, as usual, but they groped their way, and it was probably slow traveling. Their one of them?" They were caught and return to the north, when spring comes, will be as difficult. The bird men have proved, beyond doubt, that the birds are disturbed by the sounds of firing.

The Rev. Charles Kent of Thetford, one Saturday night recently, heard a terrific chattering of the pheasants and small birds around his house. There was terrific fuss in birdlom. The cries were shrill and wild. The birds left their beds in the trees and flew about in terror. Their ears were catching sounds in the air that the rector and his family were missing.

But, when the rector picked up the Sunday morning paper, he saw that the German Zeppelin had bombarded the coast, some miles away, during the very hours of the birds' excitement. He was so impressed that he wrote a letter to the Times about it, whereupon many other residents of that part of England said that all the birds, in their neighborhoods, had conducted themselves in the most extraordinary manner during the raids, even though the writers, themeselves, had not been able to hear the sounds of shooting. At a distance of 97 miles the pheasnts shrieked themselves hoarse over ounds of firing.

Whether the birds will become tired of the incessant firing on the continent and impatiently leave the war fight ag'in an' then, 'stid of tramplin' CHAPTER XVII. on us, he turned right 'round, an' made me a deputy. My brother's a corporal in this hyar new-fangled miand while the air held its sparkle of lishy. I reckon this time the peace is autumnal zestfulness, Samson South wrote to Wilford Horton that if he way ter act, but 'pears like it works fred." still meant to come to the hills for his all right." Then, at the ridge, the girl's heart gave a sudden bound, for there at the bearing transit and chain, drawing a highest point, where the road went up and dipped again, waited the mounted and rode down to meet them. "Greetings!" he shouted. Then, as he leaned over and took Adrienne's hand, he added: "The Goops send you their welcome." His smile was unchanged, but the girl noted that his For a while after the battle at Hixon hair had again grown long.

"You fellows ride on. I want Drenton rode with him, albeit grudgingly.

ness and rustic charm. Slowly, he

"This is Sally's cabin, Drennie."

lins curved up in the same sweetness

"It's lovely!" she cried, with frank

"Wait!" he commanded. Then, turn-dooryard a picture, but now she knew she had been wrong. It was only a who made and completed the picture.

to her slim bare ankles, though the

Her red-brown hair hung loose and which the half-parted lips were dashes tilted in a half-mild attitude of reconnoiter, as a fawn might have stood.

One brown arm and hand rested on the door frame, and, as she saw the Adrienne thought she had never lovely a face or figure. Then the girl

"Drennie," said the man, "this is cott stood looking at the mountain

The girl in the calico dress raise

"I'm obleeged ter ye," she faltered.

"Drennie," he said, softly, "is there

Adrienne Lescott shook here head

"I sent the others on," he went of have it otherwise, Sally wants you

"Do I stop now?" the girl asked.

"I want you to meet my other pe

As they rode at a walk along the lit

"Drennie," he began, "she waited

tle shred of road left to them, the mar

But the man shook his head.

ple first."

"I understand," she said.

"Sally," she cried, "you child, I do love you!"

other woman, she colored adorably.

first faint frosts had already fallen.

helped to mold him.

He watched her expression, and her said, looking straight into her eyes:

join you latter."

fingers were itching to be out in the hills with a palette and sheaf of brushes in the society of George Lesthe county had lain in a torpid paralysis of dread. Many illiterate feudists on each side remembered the directing and exposed figure of Samson South seen through eddies of gun smoke, and believed him immune from death. With Purvy dead and Hollman the victim of his own hand, the backbone of the murder syndicate was broken. Its heart had ceased to beat. Those Hollman survivors who bore the potentialities for leadership had not only signed pledges of peace, but were afraid to break them; and the triumphant tory, had subscribed to the doctrine of boys were drilling as militiamen and -wonder of wonders!-inviting the sons of the enemy to join them. Of course, these things changed gradually, but the beginning of them were most noticeable in the first few

Hollman's Mammoth Department

cussed and the two men prepared to cross the Mason-and-Dixon line and visit the Cumberlands, Adrienne suade her, and after all, Lescott, who why she should not go with him.

seen so instinctively and unaffectedly find grimly reminiscent evidence. came down the steps and ran toward est resolve to soften nothing, and rangements made for horses and sad-her face, and her eyes were glistening Then, with open and wondering admiration she stood gazing at the first "fine lady" upon whom her glance had anything the matter with her?" quietly, "because I wanted that first we three should meet alone. George

The guide led them silently, gazing in frank amazement, though with here." he would have preferred talking had not diffidence restrained him. He was a shaggy, unkempt way. Across one cheek ran a long scar still red, and melting masculine diffidence, and her ed, "What is your name?" brought an the night before I left that I was ings toward you. Do you remember?" She met his eyes, and her own eyes were frankly smiling. "You were very complimentary, Samson," she told him. "I warned you then that it was the moon talk-

"That's all right," reassured fear and analyzed it. My feeling for fore? the honest worship of friendship. And," he added, "I have analyzed your feeling for me, too, and, thank God! I have the same friendship from you

For a moment, she only nodded; but er eyes were bent on the road ahead of her. The man waited in tense silence. Then, she raised her face, and his rifle-gun," he enlightened. "He's a it was a face that smiled with the serenity of one who has wakened out of a troubled dream.

Haven't 1?"

plumb damn hard we was skeered ter dear," she assured him.

As Traced In Early Files of The

you cut your hair again."

"About what?"

"About-well, about us. I wasn't broke off.

had their acid test-and I am happier figure of Samson South, and, as they than I've ever been before. I'm glad came into sight, he waved his felt hat we've been through it. There are no "About him," said Samson, thought-

> She nodded, and he went on. "The thing which you call fascinaon raw meat and gunpowder, but he went in without training."

into the fight he was there. He never turned back or flickered. I was raised pird-like melody. of scarlet, and the eves large violet

> Samson who spoke. "I made the others ride on, and got Sally to meet you just as she was when I left her to go East." He spoke going to be, but as they were. I want-Sally. I want you two to love each ed you to know how proud I am of them-just that way." walked together over to the cabin of alone.

Sally protested with mountain hospitality, but even under the moon she once more colored adorably. Adrienne turned up the collar of he weater around her throat, and, when she and the man who had waited,

"Has the water flowed by my mill Wilfred?" she asked.

when Christmas comes?"

was one that his lips smothered as he shone in the deepness of her eyes, as Mr. Bryce of Fairfield. These meet-hoping, I don't see what made you surance.

operations may not be confined to any he had purchased morphine from evparticular quarter. At least, it is not ery drug store in the city but two, proper that more should be written of one of which he had never tried, a our programme, were we entitled to man giving the name of Hamp Roland, peep behind the curtain. Sufficient to talked for several minutes with a taken seven grains. She gave the ident; Margaret Stem, vice p has been taking the drug for 25 or 30 Johnson hall; Loretta Jervey, house her statement, about sixteen grains Dr. R. E. Sumner and W. this evening. The compliment is well daily, the two together taking three take the oath as members of the 60-grain bottles per week. The man of health, the board will organize by talked with some intelligence and was electing a chairman and a secretary talked with some intelligence and was electing a chairman and a secretary perfectly free in telling all about his The other members are R. E. Barron trouble with the drug. several years ago he was injured on hat the physician gave him morphine. about giving it to a person, and not unless it is absolutely necessary." He could not work without takse until he was taking two bottles each week, or about 15 grains a day. He then began to decrease the dose after he had been a slave for several ed down to four grains a day. He be-lieved that in six months he could could go without it and that if it were taken away from him he would be in a terrible fix, that his nerves would a trial of mettle with the Yankees if they dare carry out their threats of that three days was the longest he of a load of canned tomatoes. John T completely break down and he would be helpless and miserable. fore the new Federal law went into effect, stating that many a time he this afternoon and tonight a call for had sent the 12-year-old son to the he contributed the use of his the same purpose at Capt. Hardin's, drug store and purchased a bottle of street lot. As president of the cham-60 grains, paying 40 cents for it. He said that he had purchased the drug city, that one he had never tried and hat at the other he was turned down Saturday from 8 to 10 o'clock. who had produce for sale were: Rhodes, John Shurley, R. F. the purchase Since the new law has gone into effect John Mitchell, Hiram Bookout, get, that some physicians would no Ed. Rawls, Mrs. S. L. Patterson, Charite a prescription, though he said hat there were some who would do so Sexton, Misses Myrtle Hayes and Al-

> Her Goodness Unappreciated .- Katherine's uncle had come to pay them a visit, says Harper's Magazine. After the first greetings were over and he uncles often do, if she were a good litle girl. "Yes," was the child's prompt reply the price for the medicine have been 50 cents per bottle,

-Jesse West, a white youth, aged 4 years, is in Columbia unable to get "Wall, he licked us, an' licked us so "You will always have that, Samson, and the licked us, an' licked us so amn hard we was skeered ter dear," she assured him.

"You will always have that, Samson, and of the patients being getting some one to agree to act as colored, in the Cornwell neighborhood, but Dr. George A. Hennies thinks that good out of a thing than there is in it.

gang, made his escape from the gang Saturday, while working near Thick ety. He was captured Sunday mornplace, near Goucher, by Sheriff W. W. Thomas, Deputy Sheriff H. H. hart and a posse. The negro had been noon and night, and had succeeded in Rock Hill Record, April 12: last week owing to the critical illness of his brother, R. L. Barron. The latstill serious.....The following Win-throp students have been elected to serve as student government officer of the south dormitory; Mable Mann, house president of north dormitory; house president These men have authority to elect health officer, subject to ratification by the council. There are many apfirst "market day" on Saturday was a glittering success. The farmers came in and Rock Hill ladies were out in felt sure our women would contribute to the success of the day. And it was at encouraging sign to see them "go t market" with their baskets. The Oak land section contributed quite a num ber of buyers. A picturesque feature was added by the presence of two girls, Misses Myrtle Hayes and Alberta back into the country and had a war-rant issued for the arrest of Hammett.

.....Becoming despondent as a result of continued ill health, Mr. Tom C.

juring the wind-pipe without severing it, however. Dr. J. N. Nesbitt render-Garrison, members of a Canning club Roddey sold a beef cow to A. F. Dav for $6.70 per 100 pounds, and "Jim White auctioned off a lot of Berkship pigs. The value of this market t our people will show itself right along if it is continued. Too much prais cannot be given John T. Roddey for ber of commerce he pushed the plan through. Secretary Timmons of the chamber rendered very valuable ser vice in helping the plan along. market days will now be Tuesday The Chester Reporter, April 12: Mr ohn McCandless, who had a stroke of paralysis Thursday afternoon, is seri ously ill at his home two miles north east of the city.....At the meeting o the state board of education in Colum should bia last week, Messrs. and John E. Nunnery L. Rambe were pointed members of the county educa ion board of Chester county deal was consummated Friday which fifteen of the city's best known chased the Savoy theatre from Mr. W A. Cornwell. The new owners will spare no trouble or expense to make the Savoy as good as any other picture theatre in the state, and announcements of important new service may be expected shortly.....Marriag license was issued Saturday by Judge of Probate A. W. Wise to Mr. Grove Miss Janie Leona Allen of Bator Rouge There are nine first smallpox, all of the patients being

"Have I enough of it, to ask you to do for her what you did for me? To take her and teach her things she has the right to know?"

TOLD BY LOCAL EXCHANGES the situation is well in hand, and that there is but little danger of a general outbreak. Drs. Hennies and McFadden vaccinated sixty persons yesters day near Cornwell, and Dr. Hennies and McFadden vaccinated sixty persons yesters.

News Happenings In Neighboring day near Cornwell, and Dr. Hennies and McFadden vaccinated sixty persons yesters. expects to renew the campaign of vac-cination today. A vigilant quarantine has been instituted over the houses of the sick. The patient near the coun-ty farm has about recovered, and there has been but the one case in that neighborhood.....Figures contributed to a report from Commissioner E. J. Watson by Col. T. J. Cunningham, show that Chester county has a wheat sorreger this year of approximately the control of the county government, and is clothed with all accreage this year of approximately the control of the county government, and is clothed with all acreage this year of approximately the powers that the directors of any 2,400 acres as compared with 365 acres was re-elected to serve next

Bodies of 30 Germans Found Held by Steel Net. effectiveness of the steel subnarine traps which have been put down to guard the British rivers and harbors has been shown by the fact that two German submarines have been caught in the Firth of Forth. In addition a third has been sunk off the coast of Haddingtonshire and a fourth was rammed last Wednesday, disabled, captured and towed to Leith, where the crew was taken prisoners.

it is talked about freely no harm can come from the letting the world know it at the bottom until it was found by ng it to a dock. When the hatches were finally heir mission.

We raise hickory bark and buy We raise dogs and buy hogs. We raise wood and buy coal. We raise corn and buy bread.

moth and bark louse to kill our frut rees and buy fruit.

We send our boy out to hunt with $40 gun and $20 dog after a ten cent Do you understand?-Exchange.